THE PISTOL IN POLITICS.

The action of Wm. Hy. Doane, Republican candidate for County Clerk, in threatening the life of John G. Fox, has caused a feeling of disgust to arise in the breast of every citizen.

The cause of his ill advised course was the appearance in the APPEAL of the same morning, of an affidavit made by John G. Fox, charging Doane with striking him for a commission on the furnishing of stationery to the county.

The action of Mr. Doane settles whatever doubt might have existed in the public mind regarding the truth of the affidavit. If the charge were false, the proper way for Mr. Doane to have done was to have sued the APPEAL for libel, as the publisher is responsible for anything that appears in its columns.

If Mr. Doane will bring such a suit the APPEAL will give bonds in the sum of $10,000 that it will prove not only that Mr. Doane asks for commissions on supplies furnished the county, but receives them.

The flourishing of six shooters under the noses of inoffensive men who never carry pistols or never engage in street brawls, will not disprove the affidavit of Mr. Fox.

The APPEAL as a rule, hesitates about introducing damaging affidavits in a campaign, but as Mr. Doane inaugurated this method of campaign warfare in the Tribune against the editor of this journal, he has himself to thank if the result is rather more than he bargained for.

Other affidavits can be produced if Mr. Doane desires them, from other business men who have been compelled to pay liberal commissions to Mr. Doane before they could secure contracts.

Mr. Doane has for years been doing a general jobbing and commission business in contracts, and a very thrifty driver of bargains he is.

"Where do I come in?" with the accent on the I, has become a general bye-word in Carson when speaking of Mr. Doane.

Would Mr. Doane like an affidavit from Mr. Stevenson on what it cost the latter to get the Indian School contract?

Mr. Doane should bear in mind one thing; that the poorest of all arguments in politics is a pistol.

THE FACTS BY THE RECORD.

The News of yesterday contains two abusive paragraphs relative to Senator Stewart printed under the head of, "A Different Opinion Then" and credited to the APPEAL of Oct. 27th, 1886. The paragraphs are printed to show that the APPEAL was fighting Stewart as a gold bug in 1886.

We very much dislike to differ from a lady on a question of fact and assume that Miss Martin has once more been imposed upon by her unscrupulous backers.

Yesterday the Editor of the APPEAL visited the State Library and there found a copy of the APPEAL of Oct. 27th, 1886, on file.

The paper was carefully examined by the editor of the APPEAL and Miss Ada Torreyson, the lady in charge of the Library. No such paragraph appears in the paper, but instead a column editorial endorsing Stewart's course on the silver question and a two column report of a public meeting held the night before at the Opera House, in which Jones spoke two hours for Stewart and silver to a packed house.

The paper also contains the regular Republican ticket, where the legislative nominees of Ormsby were pledged to Stewart.

PUBLIC MEETING.

There will be public speaking at the Opera House on Monday evening. Hon H Bergstein and Hon T V Julian of Reno will address the meeting and be followed by local speakers.

C E Mack, of Virginia City and C J Kappler, of Washington, D. C., will also address the meeting. There will be music both vocal and instrumental. Miss Noble will be there with her silver cornet.
